WHEREAS, our ancestors relied upon the lands and waters of our territories for survival, sustenance, transportation, health, spiritual wellness, culture, community, and economy – just as we do today and as our children will into the future; and WHEREAS, there is overwhelming scientific evidence of climate change driven in part by the release of greenhouse gases into the atmosphere, as documented in the Colville Tribes "Summary of Projected Changes in Physical Conditions Across the Colville Tribes Study Area (2019)"; and

WHEREAS, the effects of climate change, evident on global and regional scales, has caused significant temperature and precipitation fluctuations to the territories of the Colville Tribes which result with decreased snowpack, increased ecological drought, increased wildland fire frequency and intensity, increased wind/dust storm and flood events, alterations to plant and animal phenology, and other associated effects on the environment and natural resources, as documented in the "Natural Resources Climate Change Vulnerability Assessment (2018)," on which the Colville Tribes has traditionally relied; and WHEREAS, the effects of climate change also have the potential to negatively impact and exacerbate the vulnerabilities of cultural, social, health, public safety, and economic welfare of the Colville Tribes' homelands, environment and resources; and WHEREAS, it is the duty and responsibility of the Colville Tribes to provide for the health, safety and well being of the community, its local environment, natural resources, and social systems; and WHEREAS, through traditional knowledge, practice, experience, and relationships with the lands and waters of our territories and jurisdictions, the Colville Tribes has an important role in defending and healing the natural environment and the Colville Tribes' homelands;

WHEREAS, there is a need for the Environmental Trust Department to coordinate the Colville Tribes' climate change adaptation and mitigation efforts with all Divisions of the Tribal government; and WHEREAS, it is the recommendation of the Colville Business Council that all Divisions of the Tribal government will support coordinated climate change adaptation and mitigation efforts which are culturally responsive, climate neutral, equitable, and resilient;

	THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED; that the Colville Tribes supports the development of a Climate Change Steering Committee, facilitated by the Climate Action Coordinator, to integrate climate change adaptation and mitigation activities into the management plans and standard operating procedures of the Tribal government by analyzing the Colville Tribes' climate research and reports, identifying unmet climate impact research needs, and implementing traditional knowledges, principles of justice and equity, and best available science.
